

THE WEEKLY CLOSE

VOL. 4.1

BRAD@WEEKLYCLOSE.COM

3/1/2021

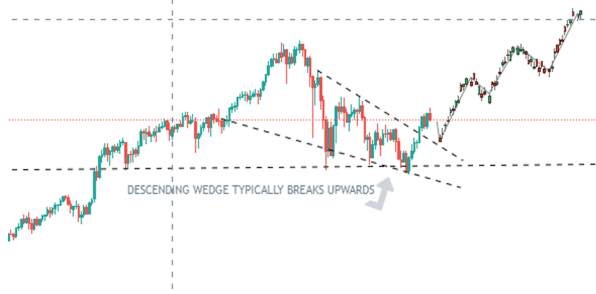

IN THE DUMPS

Phew, what an exhausting week that was. At one point most coins were down 30-40% from the previous all-time highs and the overall market was looking rocky. We talked about that drop last week and sure enough it smacked us right in the face.

For the next week i see two possible scenarios

Scenario 1:

This could possibly be a monster week. One where we just rubber band upwards off of the relentless selling that took place all last week. The RSI or Relative Strength Index was fairly undersold and started to rise. With the amount of people and institutions buying in there isnt anywhere to go but up.

Scenario 2:

We could see a bit of traction and then later in the week we see a sell off. When we dumped a good bit in January it was around two weeks that we bounced around I think we see the latter again. The RSI are printing divergences. That means prices are falling as the RSI is rising and thats not typically a good sign.

Prediction: First few days the market goes up, Tricks people into thinking were going to go straight up.

Thursday-Friday we see a dump then Sunday-Monday we start going up again. Its not going to be all straight up but its going to be mostly. If you get stuck underwater just tread until the insitutions rescue you.

THE WEEKLY CLOSE

VOL. 4.1

BRAD@WEEKLYCLOSE.COM

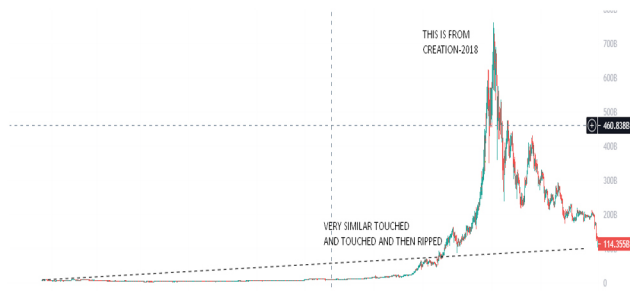

3/1/2021

CHATTER

Total Market Cap:

We have been talking about for the past few weeks the price is heading upwards which is exactly what we're looking for. If we can hold that trend line in the big chart on the last page and not lose it, its going to be one hell of a ride. If you thought any of this before was crazy wait until you see what is in store.

The trend line / fractal / pattern has been what I've been praying for a for a long long time. History tends to repeat itself especially in crypto, so letts all hope it holds. Brad what are you talking about? As in many things in life things tend to repeat themselves over and over and over whether its human tendencies or patterns they happen quite frequently if youre looking for them. Last time we did insane percents id be insane to think it wouldnt happen again.

NFT: TOP SHOTS

I know I'm not the guy who does Top Shots but i do know one thing. There are lots of crypto whales in this game, since the platform dapper allows crypto deposits as well as the creator was the one who made crypto kitties.

A very shortly popular collecting game That basically allowed you to buy cats on the ethereum network. I think this situation is slightly different because of how much more the world is paying attention. How many people and players are talking about but the fact here is whales make it really good and really bad. When crypto dumps top shots is going to dump, that's just how it's going to work. Whales take profits all at once.

I have no doubt that in 2-5 years these ones that are being released now are going to be worth so much money it will be insane. If the market falls out in the next year dont forget to gather these up if they get really cheap, this is a long term game not a short one. Play it right.

TAKE CAUTION WITH THESE INVESTMENTS AS WITH ANYTHING ELSE, BUT I'M MORE CAUTIOUS BECAUSE DAPPER WITHDRAWS HAVE/ARE DOWN.

PICKS

Were still going to ride out the ETH token train. I would say, avoid majors more or so for the next couple weeks, the altcoins are doing so much better. Graph was up 20% while ETH was only up like 10%. I'm sticking to the tokens and coins we've been discussing. If you didnt add on the dip, I suspect we will see another one this week and then next week we'll begin moving upwards again.

UMA: Still like this here, hit my bids at all levels and has started going back up. Dependent on the market I think this one moves really quick.

BNT: Super undervalued in my opinion

BAL: Even more so undervalued with how much they make per day, if you don't have some get some

UNI: HOT but there are lot of other projects coming out that are stealing some of its thunder.

CAKE: Binances uniswap essentially, binance is backed by real money, i know they're going to rip into the top 10 in marketcap. Get some money on binance.us use my referral link, if youre not sure how watch my youtube video on how to make an account that will be up tomorrow.